Business Leader, Industry Ambassador and Mentor

Kenneth Rudolph, P.E., Honored with Engineering Council's Orley O. Phillips Award

DENVER (April 23, 2015) - The American Council of Engineering Companies of Colorado (ACEC Colorado) honored Kenneth Rudolph, P.E., CCE, LEED AP, president, Professional Management Consultants, LLC (PMC) with its 2015 Orley O. Phillips Award. Rudolph joins an impressive list of 35 industry professionals who have received this honor for their contributions to ACEC Colorado and the consulting engineering industry. He was cited for serving as an ambassador who encourages consulting engineers statewide to join the Council, which is dedicated to the private practice of consulting engineering and business ethics practices. Rudolph was also recognized for his ongoing mentorship of those within the industry who seek best practices business advice and guidance on outreach to fill professional positions within firms.

Rudolph's career spans more than 35 years in the industry, where he has a record of progressive leadership experience in civil engineering. He spent nearly 25 years with Nolte Associates, where he gained chief executive officer and chairman of the board credentials, prior to the firm's merger with Vertical 5 in 2012. He holds Professional Engineer registrations in five states and has been active on several boards of directors, including ACEC Colorado, Parkview Condo Association and Douglas County Library Board, and currently serves on the board of Beaudin Ganze Consulting Engineers.
